

contents

INTRODUCTION

Geneviève Fabre/Klaus Benesch: The Concept of African Diaspora(s): A Critical Reassessment

THINKING DIASPORAS

Brent Hayes Edwards (Rutgers University): The Uses of 'Diaspora'

David Palumbo-Liu (Stanford University): Against Race: Yes, But At What Cost?

Michel Feith (University of Nantes): Henry Louis Gates, Jr.'s Signifying Monkey: A Diasporic Critical Myth

DIASPORIC HISTORICAL SITES

Sylvia Frey (Tulane University): Cultural Migrations: A Time-&-Space Outline of Black Atlantic Protestantism

Sujaya Dhanvantari (University of Alberta): French Revolutionary Song in the Haitian Revolution 1789–1804

Winston James (Columbia University): From John Brown Russwurm to George Padmore: The Anglophone Caribbean Diaspora and Pan-African Projects

LITERARY WRITINGS OF DIASPORA

Carla L. Peterson (University of Maryland): Modernity and Historical Consciousness in the "New Negro" Novel at the Nadir (1892–1903)

Klaus Benesch (University of Bayreuth): Notes from Underground: William Demby's The Catacombs and the Diasporic Roots of African-American Modernism

Kathie Birat (University of Metz): The Conundrum of Home: The Diasporic Imagination in The Nature of Blood by Caryl Phillips

Seth Moglen (Lehigh University): Modernism in the Black Diaspora: Langston Hughes and the "broken cubes of Picasso"

VISUAL ART AND PERFORMANCE

Amy Kirschke (University of North Carolina): Du Bois, The Crisis, and Images of Africa and the Diaspora

Iris Schmeisser (University of Munich): "Ethiopia shall soon stretch forth her hands": Ethiopianism, Egyptomania, and the Arts of the Harlem Renaissance

Judith Bettelheim (San Francisco State University): Carnival of Los Congos in Portobelo, Panama: Feathered Men and Queens

POSTSCRIPT

Tom Feelings (University of South Carolina): The Middle Passage: A Visual Narrative

APPENDIX

Phyllis B. Bischof (University of California, Berkeley): The Power and Place of Black Diasporan Autobiography: An Annotated Bibliography of Autobiographies